

Esther

My name is Esther which is a very cool name – some think it's of Persian origin meaning “star,” or it might be from a Hebrew form of the Persian goddess Ishtar. Pretty cool to have that name lineage, don't you think? And some of you may know that In the Old Testament, Esther is the name of the Jewish queen of King Ahasuerus of Persia who saves her people from the wicked plans of Haman. Wow! Didn't know all that was behind my name, did you? And I'm also super unique in that I am a manx – a kitty born without the traditional long kitty tail. Now in my case, I'm called a “stumpy” in the manx kitty world as I have a bit of a tail, kind of like a little bobcat (it's pretty cute.) I am very mellow and easy going, get along well with other kitties and to tell you the truth, I have a wise, calm demeanor about me. With the great legacy of my name, I'd kind of just grew into having a regal (but warm and friendly) demeanor. Oh, I'm about six to eight years of age, my liver, kidney and thyroid are all very healthy and I just had my teeth removed (I just didn't floss like my dentist told me to!) but I can eat dry and wet food easily and have a good appetite. See how much I love affection in my video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KGx7MS4GILA>
