Well, hello there, cat lovers! My name is Barnaby, and I'm just the warm, snuggly, affectionate creature you've been looking for. Don't let my little white sophisticated mustache mislead you -- I am an enthusiastic, young fellow still in my prime. At five years old, I'm the perfect age! I've moved beyond my young reckless kitty years out on the streets and am ready to settle down and truly domesticate. Did you know that five years old for kitties is equivalent to mid-30s in human years? I'm looking for a quiet home with peaceful adult companions who love to love as much as I do. I'm an experienced guy who's seen many things in my short life. What I've learned is this: the best life has to offer is a warm kitty bed next to a heater on a cold night, a tender loving owner who will love me unconditionally the way I'll love you, and a home to call my own.
