Hey, everyone! My name is Wally (I'm the gray tabby and white guy), and this stripey dude is my friend Tigger. I had a happy life with Tigger and my human family up until last year, when my dad got married again and his wife was allergic to us. We spent last winter outside (brrr!), but this year the family has decided to send us on our way. I'm about 6 or 7 years old, and Tigger is a cat of the world at 13. We are both friendly and loving companions who would love to join you and your family for the new year (and forever after!). Sadly, if we don't find a new home by the end of 2011, we will both go into the shelter and probably not make it out again. Do you think you can help us? We are in Richmond, but we have friends who will bring us to you. All we ask is a safe and loving home together -- can you make our holiday wishes come true? How often do you get the opportunity to save two lives?
